

The Millennium Scoring Record

The Millennium Scoring Record is a loose-leaf A3 binder complete containing 50 double-sided scoring records

The folder

The cover is designed so that it will fold back under itself and remain held in position by using the elasticated tags at the bottom corners. The tags also secure the bottom corners of the score sheet (though additional clips may be helpful on windy days as with any other score book).

Folding the cover back as suggested keeps the score book to about A3 size making it manageable in most score boxes, on most tables and even on the scorers' knee when scoring facilities are lacking.

The acetate sheet (Supplied with the folder)

This is provided to protect the score sheet from the rain. We hope that it will not be needed though the Milstead Scorer has been glad of it on several occasions! We suggest that you keep it in the folder so that you can access it quickly should it be needed.

The information page (Supplied with the folder)

Details how No balls, Wides and 5 penalty extras, should be entered in the scoring record.

The scoring record

Suited to most club cricket matches - up to 65 overs per innings and space for up to 25 overs for each of 8 bowlers.

We suggest that you use one loose-leaf page for each one innings match.

Place a new page at the front of the loose-leaf binder at the start of the match and turn it over to score the innings of the side batting second. This enables you to use the scoring record folder as recommended.

If some areas of the scoring record are unfamiliar please contact Milstead CC for advice on completion.
